

SAP is the world's largest business software company and the world's third-largest independent software supplier overall.

Interestingly, few bookkeepers and accountants realise that SAP has a solution specifically designed to cater for small business – SAP Business One – currently used by more than 50,000 organisations world-wide.

SAP Business One is an affordable, easy-to-use business software solution that helps SMBS standardise and streamline their operational and managerial processes. Using real-time data, it improves visibility into operational performance and supports informed and sound management decisions.

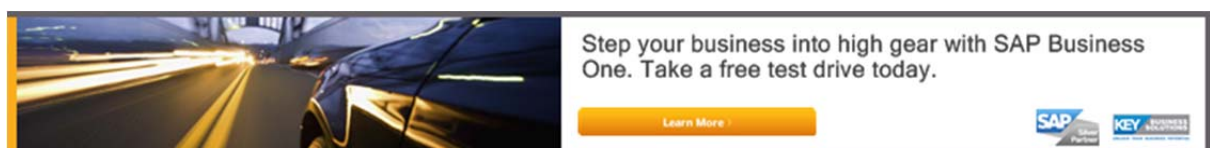

SAP Business One is an ideal business platform for both bookkeepers and their end customers.

From the bookkeeper's perspective, it provides a simple tool that allows the capturing and reporting on additional dimensions of their client's business while processing daily transactions. Bookkeepers can use this to provide a value-add to their end customers by allowing for the provision of analytical as well as compliance reporting, straight out of the box. 'Cash is King' - as all small business know – and by using SAP Business One internally bookkeepers can have access to out of the box cash flow reporting, again, adding value for customers by providing clear visibility of their working capital.

As a tool for end customers, SAP Business One is a simple yet powerful platform. Managing all aspects of their business from order to cash and purchase to payment, CRM, Inventory, MRP and Service. Non-technical users can easily adapt the application to meet new requirements. Most small business owners are looking for fast, precise access to data with which to make decisions. SAP Business One is specifically designed to provide flexible access to data as and when needed - on premise, on mobile or on device.
